GEN. MEEM'S PROPERTY .- To show what some of our extensive land holders in the Valley are doing to reconstruct the country, notwithstanding the sudden and violent disrup tion of our system of labor, we would refer to the management of that splendid estate, known as "the Steenbergen property," owned by John G. Meem, Esq., of Lynchburg, Va. This estate now comprises near 5,000 acres, lying in the very heart of the great Valley, on both sides of the road, between the villages of New Market and Mt. Jackson in Shenandoah. Of this magnificent landed possession there are 2,500 acres cleared, 1,125 of which is river and creek bottom, and the residue woo' and pasture land. The very large body of level lowland on this farm, (or farms rather, for there are two estates now combined under one con trol,) is remarkable for its productive capacity. Notwithstanding the property was ravaged during the war, and miles upon miles of its extensive fencing destroyed by the troops who passed through and encamped upon it, yet the hand of reconstructive power is distinctly visible in every part of the estate. No less than 120,000 rails have been split, hauled out, and put up, thus securing the crops from the intrusions of stock of all kinds. With the scanty and uncertain labor at command since the war, the intelligent managers of the farms-Gen. Gilbert S. and Col. John G. Meem, jr., brothers. have been able to put out and cut this year 300 acres of wheat, producing 18 or 20 bushels to the acre; 50 acres of oats; 200 acres of timothy meadow, making 280 or 300 tons of hay, and leaving a portion for seed; whilst there tice. are 300 acres of corn which is very forward, much of it already in tassel, and which will average 50 or 60 bushels to the acre. The estate subsists, in addition, 100 head of grazing cattle, and 1,100 head of sheep, besides a large number of hogs. Mr. Meem takes a just pride in having the very best breeds of animals upon his estate, and therefore spares no expense in their procurement. The labor on the farm this year will cost about $6,000. The Woods' and McCormick's Reapers and Mowers were both at work on the farm, both giving the utmost

The foregoing facts and figures show what is being done by some of our intelligent and enenergetic Shenandoah Valley farmers, who are engaged, in the face of great difficulties, in reconstructing their shattered fortunes. This year's work is not as good as was done before the war, nor as extensive as the work marked out on the programme for the coming year,

Nor is the labor of cultivating their lands the only work being performed on this estate. A new circular saw-mill is in operation, which is turning out lamber and shingles in great abundance for the improvement of the farms. A new, extensive and beautiful barn, with modern improvements, occupying the site of the barn which was destroyed by fire after the war was over, has gone up on the Mount Airy portion of the estate, under direction of Col. Meem, jr., whilst stabling and other buildings have been erected on the Locust Grove farm, under the supervision of Gen. G. S. Meem. Other improvements are being projected and will be pushed actively forward.

The prospect of the very early re construction of the Manassas Gap Railroad to Mt. Jackson, (no longer now, we believe, a matter of doubt or uncertainty,) is stimulating the spirit of improvement immensely. Heretofore the ordinary means of transportation have been entirely inadequate to carry off the resources of this celebrated landed estate in the lovely Shenandoah valley-an estate second to none in the South or in the U.S. in point of productive capacity. It has not been favored, either, with any sort of system of manuring. In fact, the present year's crops of wheat, oats, grass and corn have had the advantage of no manure whatever, the labor rendered necessary | ers is called, by the ravages of the war making it difficult to do more than get up the ordinary fencing.

A part of this property was purchased by Mr. Meem in 1841, the rest at different periods since, the last-the 'Rude's Hill' portion-in November, 1865. Mr. M. was born in Winchester, in the lower Valley, but has resided in Lynchburg for the last 49 or 50 years, where he has carried on business as a merchant and carned a reputation for honor and integrity of which any gentleman might

The Mt. Airy homestead, the residence of Mr. Steenbergen in the days of his prosperity and extensive cattle and bank operations, is the seat of a refined and princely hospitality which does credit to the tastes of the liberalminded old Virginia gentleman and his son into whose possession it has passed.-Harrisonburg Register.

BREACH OF TRUST .- Yesterday morning, Chas. Williams and Albert Curtis, president and secretary of a much respected brotherhood, well known to our colored community as "The LETAILED IN NEW YORK. Sons of the Union," with long faces and feelings visibly depressed, appeared before his honor to enter criminal proceedings against their devoted, but lately recreant treasurer, Billy Wilson, he having appropriated to his personal benefit the entire funds of the association. This they stated in minute detail, and requested to know by what process they could recover the missing funds, or prosecute the man who had thus outraged their confidence and prostrated the pecuniary energies of their

His honor blandly informed the official heads of the 'Sons of the Union' that there was no process of law by which they could recover funds from an insolvent treasurer; but if there was any honor in the man Billy Wilson, he ought by all means to pay over the amount of his delinquency to the secretary as early as possible. To this response they listened very attentively, but it did not seem to revive their moroseness to any considerable extent, and they left the precine's of Justice covery of the funds of the order. - Norfolk sure must give satisfaction.
